

Cathedrae

What is a cookie

A cookie is a small text file that is stored by the computer when a website is visited by a user. The text stores information that the site is able to read in the moment in which it is seen at a later time. This is completely anonymous data, useful for technical or statistical purposes, and none of these data will be used to identify you or to contact you. Some of these cookies are necessary for the proper operation of the site; others are useful to the visitor because they can safely store such information as the user name. To know how this site uses cookies or localStorage, read the Privacy Policy.

Why our site uses cookies

Our site uses cookies to remember the visitors language and the products added to the wishlist. We also uses third-party services that in turn use cookies. Here is the list of such services and the link to the individual privacy policies:

Google analytics is a web analytics service provided by Google Inc.

Google maps is a service that allows searching and viewing of maps provided by Google Inc

YouTube e Vimeo are two web platforms that enable viewing and sharing of videos on the internet

Twitter is a social network

Facebook is a social network

Where to find information about how to disable or manage cookies in different browsers:

Google Chrome

Mozilla Firefox

Apple Safari

Microsoft Windows Explorer

By disabling cookies, however, the operation of this site may be compromised. Closing the banner on this page or by clicking on the link you consent to the use of cookies.

To learn more about cookies and localStorage, visit the website Data Protection Authority.

This cookie policy was last updated on December 12, 2018. Any updates will always be found on this page.